

Too Many Schoology Emails?

Schoology is a student-directed learning management system, similar to what college students use to manage class assignments. Parents will receive Schoology notifications within their subscribed groups. While it would be nice to have a subject line in the notification email, Schoology is not configured to allow this.

Managing your subscriptions is even more critical to be sure you are receiving notifications in the optimal way. Did you know there is a Schoology daily digest summary email you may receive 1/day or 1/week?

Instructions to manage your Schoology account:

- Log into Schoology.
- Click on your Groups drop-down at the top and click on “Technology Information.”
- Click on “Resources” at the left of the page.
- Click on “Technology Training: Parents” folder and then “Schoology How To’s” folder.
